

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH OUR STOMACHS?

IS A QUESTION OF VITAL IMPORTANCE.

The best informed physicians advise the use of Adamur Dyspepsia Lozenges, which are not a patent medicine but a favorite prescription that we found from years of experience in prescribing for stomach troubles to be wonderfully reliable. We find in treating great numbers of cases of chronic diseases that this combination is indicated in at least four out of five cases and is the foundation of the most successful treatment that has ever been devised. We can do no better for persons who cannot come to the Sanitarium than to recommend a thorough trial of this prescription which is put up under the name of Adamur Dyspepsia Lozenges simply to designate or identify the prescription.

If you have ill-health, look to your stomach for the cause. Do not stop half way. Do not suppose it's the heart, or the liver, or kidneys, or constipation, or piles, or the nerves. It is a deranged digestive function that causes the heart to palpitate, that causes liver troubles, that wears out the kidneys, that causes piles and constipation, and distracts the nerves. When our stomachs are restored to their original or natural condition, we are well.

Nine out of every ten cases of chronic disease originate in a deranged digestion. No matter whether it be rheumatism, kidney disease, constipation, nervous troubles, scrofula, or any other form, they all begin with some form of indigestion. The formation of gas in the bowels is an indication of indigestion, but is generally unheeded until a more serious form of the trouble occurs, and so with many other symptoms.

Some of the most intelligent and successful physicians in the state of Michigan use and prescribe Adamur Dyspepsia Lozenges. We have thousands like the following to substantiate our statements:

The Need of Education

"Another immediate matter is to recognize that education is one of the main functions of a government," says Henry D. Sedgwick, Jr., in the May Atlantic. "Misled by practical difficulties of machinery, by old custom, and by many repetitions, lawyers and lecturers talk of the executive duties of the executive, of the legislative duties of the legislature, as if those terms bounded the subject. Only occasionally a man, as Bagehot did in England, stops to look at the real nature of the functions of President and of Congress. One function is to instruct the people by example. The reason that a good and able man should be chosen President, rather than a bad and able man, is not that he will execute the laws more promptly and more exactly, but because it is important that a conspicuous object in the nation's eye should be good. One reason that good men, and not bad, should be chosen Senators is that speeches in the Senate should fill the newspapers with matter that it will be good for the young to hear. The influence of men in high places is far-reaching: people take their standards of conduct as they do the fashions of their dress. See the effect of a virtuous court on the manners of a people."

If, after having renounced all, we do not watch incessantly and beseech God to accompany our vigilance with his, we shall be again entangled and overcome.—Wesly.
